

March 1 H-Bomb '500 Times Greater' Than Hiroshima Blast

NEW YORK (AP)—Time magazine says today the latest United States thermonuclear explosion went off in the Pacific March 1 with a blast probably 500 times greater than the Hiroshima atomic bomb.

The force of the explosion, Time says, surprised atomic scientists working on the project at the Marshall Islands proving grounds.

Twenty-eight U.S. observers and 236 island natives, thought to have been evacuated to a safe distance, were showered with radio-active particles, Time reports. Their exposure was 10 times greater than the usual safety limit, the magazine says, but the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced there had been no burns.

Time, which gives no source for its information, says calculation of the blast force is still incomplete but the force was so great that the AEC reclassified a test of Nov. 1, 1952, as a "misfire."

Force of the "misfire" was "awesome enough," Time adds, giving these details on that test: The blast was 250 times as great as the Hiroshima bomb.

Its fireball measured 28 miles in diameter. The mushroom cloud climbed 90,000 feet into the stratosphere.

Time says the latest test may have sent its radioactive cloud higher than 20 miles.

Both the March 1 blast and the Nov. 1, 1952, "misfire" were explosions of thermonuclear devices atop a tower, Time adds.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressional sources reported today the recent hydrogen blast at Bikini loosed energy equal to more than 12,000,000 tons of TNT—600 times the destructive capacity of the A-bombs that wrecked Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

The explosion, touched off March 1, was far more powerful than anticipated, these sources said. The shock was felt as far away as Kwajalein, 176 miles from the test site.

As destructive as was this test, the first of a series, others are planned that will be even more powerful, the sources reported. One blast set for the latter half of April may run as high as 45,000,000 to 50,000,000 tons.

Joint Action Looms On Giant Projects

2 Fliers Safe; Plane Found At Pt. Belmont

Missing Off B.C. Coast Since Friday

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The air force said two missing fliers, were found today "alive and well" at Port Belmont on Princess Royal Island, 350 miles northwest of here.

The pair, Pilot Alston J. R. Laurie, 26, of Regina and Vancouver, and his passenger, Charles Kendall of Los Angeles, vanished Friday on a flight from Prince Rupert to Vancouver.

It was not immediately known whether their single-engine Aeronca had crashed-landed on the island, which hugs the coast below Prince Rupert.

The air force said a Canso flying boat would land immediately to pick up the pair.

The missing fliers were sighted at 11 a.m. five days after they vanished on a routine 5½-hour flight. Seven planes had taken part in the search today, which covered an area of 10,800 square miles.

The air force said they would have to await the take-off of the rescue plane before receiving further information, as the plane could not communicate while it was on the water. The Canso was expected to fly the pair to Port Hardy on Vancouver Island, before taking them to Vancouver.

Laurie and Kendall are employed by the Americana Corporation, and were returning from a northern business trip when they disappeared.

1 Killed, 6 Hurt As Diesel Train Hits Cement Truck

TORONTO (CP)—The Detroit-to-Toronto dayliner diesel train was wrecked today in a collision with a cement truck just west of Toronto. A Galt district man was killed and six other persons were injured.

Killed was John Gillespie, 81, of Ayr, near Galt, a passenger.

Injured were Keith Rowntree, CPR division engineer at London; William Palmer, Toronto, engineer of the freight train; George Paquette, London, engineer of the diesel car, who suffered shock, bruises and minor injuries; A. C. Becker, 86, of Roseville in the Galt district, a passenger on the dayliner, and E. Nichol of London, trainman on the dayliner.

RUSSIAN CONCERT STARS SCHEDULED FOR CANADA

TORONTO (BUP)—Russia plans to send "famous" singers, violinists and ballerinas on a Canadian tour, Dmitri S. S. Chuvahin, Russian ambassador to Canada, has announced.

He told the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society that Soviet theatrical circles had "gladly accepted" the invitation of the Canadian society.

He did not say who would make the trip. It was believed, however, that the Russians might be planning to send the Soviet Prima ballerina, Ulanova, claimed by many to be the world's top-ranking dancer. It was also suggested that a group of musicians who appeared briefly in Florence and Venice two summers ago might be sent.

Industrial Giants Ask Bennett OK On $1 Billion B.C.-Yukon Hydro

A unique, billion-dollar northland hydro-electric project, in which Canada and the United States may pool resources, talents and geography, loomed today following a meeting in Premier Bennett's office Tuesday between officials of the mighty Aluminum Company of America and the Canadian Frobisher industrial empires.

If the deal goes through, it will provide the greatest aluminum project in the world, on the Alaskan coast, plus power for Canadian metallurgical and electro-chemical industries of huge dimensions, in the Yukon and northern B.C.

Representing Alcoa at Tuesday's meeting were Irving W. Wilson, president; Leon Hickman of Pittsburgh, vice-president and lawyers Frank Mechem of Seattle and Reginald Tupper of Vancouver.

Speaking for Frobisher Ltd. were Thayer Lindsley, president, of Toronto, and Ross Tormie, Ottawa lawyer.

Representing the B.C. government were Premier Bennett and Hon. R. E. Sommers, lands and forests minister.

While Tuesday's meeting was brief, and described as "purely exploratory," it is expected that a second meeting will be held within a month, possibly in New York.

PLAN SKETCHED

Briefly stated, the position of the two companies is this:

Alcoa has access to a deep-water port at Taiya Inlet and needs Canadian water from the Yukon River for a $400 million aluminum plant. It is prepared to "put ships in within a month" and start immediate construction and has done the necessary financing for the vast enterprise. But first it must get clearance from Canadian authorities so that it can take the water through the Alaska Panhandle (U.S. territory), to the sea.

Check Shows 1,552 Margin On Petition

Name-By-Name Scrutiny Begins

Greater Victoria Citizens' Association has a "safety margin" of 1,552 names on its petition calling for a local option vote on new-type liquor outlets.

William H. Ryan, Victoria registrar of voters, announced today his preliminary tabulation of the number of registered voters as at Wednesday of last week, when the petition was presented to the government, showed 30,760 registrations.

It is this number which will be the basis of determining whether the petition succeeds. The new Government Liquor Act requires 35 per cent of the registered voters to petition before a local option vote will be held.

Thirty-five per cent of 30,760 works out at 10,766.

The petition, now being carefully scrutinized, bears 12,318 names.

CHECK SIGNATURES

Mr. Ryan and his staff now begin the task of making a name-by-name check of signatures on the petition. Every signature will be ticked off against the printed voters' list to make certain no name is counted twice and against a file index, bearing actual signatures, to guard against forgeries.

Any questionable signatures will not be counted in determining validity of the petition. Validity will be established as long as 10,766 names are shown to be proper signatures.

IKE RESERVES RIGHT TO HIT BACK-FAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today any president ought to be impeached or even hanged who did not act immediately if the country were attacked by an aggressor.

The president spoke out on the military situation after defending the position taken by State Secretary Dulles Tuesday that it would not be necessary for the chief executive to consult Congress in advance before acting to meet an attack.

Eisenhower said he was not backing away from the statement he made last week that the United States will not be carried into war without the approval of Congress.

But he said he could conceive of word coming to him while he was in the press conference that a great fleet of airplanes was coming from the south to destroy the United States.

Self-preservation requires quick reaction, he said. (See story page 3.)

HE'S NOT WANTED—LAMPOR

Toronto Reception Out for McCarthy

TORONTO (UP)—Toronto Mayor Allan Lamport said here today that as far as he is concerned Sen. Joseph McCarthy is not welcome in Toronto and would not get the usual civic reception when he comes to tell Canadians about his Communist-hunting activities.

Both Lamport and metropolitan chairman Fred Gardiner criticized McCarthy after hearing about his visit and Gardiner said "we don't want him up here."

Lamport said earlier that there would not be the customary civic welcome extended visiting dignitaries.

"He is sabotaging a great nation, the United States, by his tactics," Lamport said. "He has offended one of the finest servants the world has ever known, the United States army."

"We are always ready and willing to show our neighbor every respect, but that does not include a civic welcome to McCarthy. He is disregarding the rights of free people."

It will cost the public from $1 to $2.50 to hear the senator speak. The group backing McCarthy is putting up the money to defray expenses, and hopes to have the $1,750 required by Maple Leaf Gardens by today.

"We are paying his expenses to come here, but he is not asking a fee," promoter John Hladun said.

Senator McCarthy ran into some tougher opposition when he took on the army. But he's frightened out of his Clausewitz.

Weapon Now Deliverable AEC Spokesman Reveals

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UP)—It has now been said officially, plainly, openly—the United States has deliverable H-bombs and the means of hurling them at any target in the world.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) said it Tuesday night, Cole is chairman of the House Senate Atomic Energy Committee. The law requires the Atomic Energy Commission to keep Cole and his colleagues fully informed on all atomic matters.

So Cole knew what he was talking about when he said, on the record, that the United States has perfected the super bomb in deliverable form. And it was at least an "educated guess" when he added that it was a "fair assumption" that Russia also possesses hydrogen weapons it can deliver on target.

Russian Progress Presumed

Tuesday night, however, he said the United States could do just that—and Russia—presumably could. He said President Eisenhower had told the United Nations this country has "hydrogen weapons."

His reference was to the speech of last December 8 in which Mr. Eisenhower said: "Atomic bombs today are more than 25 times as powerful as the weapons with which the atomic age dawned, while hydrogen bombs are in the ranges of millions of tons of TNT equivalent."

Informed sources said at the time that Mr. Eisenhower was referring to deliverable H-bombs. Cole has now confirmed this interpretation publicly. The President's statement, Cole said, "must necessarily mean a deliverable hydrogen bomb."

A "deliverable hydrogen bomb" that can be carried to any part of the world? Herbert asked.

"Yes," Cole said, "if we have bases close enough to the target."

TOKYO (AP)—The United States today offered top-flight medical aid to 23 Japanese fishermen burned and blistered by radioactive ashes from a super-secret U.S. nuclear test in the Pacific.

$4,000 Damage In Garage Fire At Langford

About $4,000 damage was done when fire demolished a four-truck garage at Langford today, according to Fire Chief Rod Bayles of the volunteer fire department.

Destroyed by fire of unknown origin was a garage used by the Morrow Cartage. Three trucks in the garage were driven clear. The building, about 20x60 feet in area, was said to be insured.

Water shortage hindered the fire-fighting operations, Chief Bayles said. Two fire trucks with 900-gallon capacity pumps fed water on the building while a third tank truck shuttled back and forth to a hydrant.

STOTT in the HOUSE

White Knight to the Rescue on Education

RAY GILLIS WILLISTON is the personable young school inspector the Social Crediters picked to win Fort George and the man the Opposition wants to appoint Minister of Education.

Yesterday he labored gallantly to rescue Social Credit's lady, Mrs. Lydia Arsens, from the hole she fell into in her speech. Most unkindly, the Opposition members seized upon Lydia's statement in favor of a six weeks' training course for teachers. What she meant, said Mr. Williston, was that the short period would be technical training, the rest practical.

It was a happy explanation—happy for Mrs. Arsens, too. Mr. Williston doesn't think technical teacher training can be done in six weeks, but the lady's point of view wasn't quite as outlandish as it had sounded.

Mr. Williston undertook the job of analysing Lillooet Liberal Gordon Gibson's statistical comparison of the P.G.E. and other major railways. The Liberal, he said, had been careful to pick the best railways to make the P.G.E. look bad. He could easily have selected the railway to Fort Churchill, which would make the B.C. line look much better. The Fort Churchill operation loses more money.

'Now Is the Time'

Mr. Williston was evidently working for the Government—as he should in his position. And he worked for it too in an explanation of the Rolston Formula. It had been a temporary arrangement, he said, emphasizing a point that came to light last year when the Rolston Formula proved unpopular.

The Fort George member, whom Arthur Laing calls the Education Minister designate, explained assessment equalization, declared the province had been doing well educationally in recent years and was advancing further with the appointment of a co-ordinator for teacher-training. The Government backing of school bonds had improved marketing of those securities and a firm policy was emerging in education financing.

All in all, the young man from Prince George did a workman-like job for the Government and would have made it look even better if Randolph Harding, CCF school teacher, hadn't spoken later.

Mr. Harding asked Mr. Williston if he favored that section of the Rolston Formula which would have made Vancouver pay 75 per cent of increased education costs over the base year, 1952. He wondered if Mr. Williston favored establishing a provincial standard of education, or 78 different standards based on the graduated wealth of the various municipalities.

And when it came to Mr. Williston's analysis of the Gibson brief, why had the Fort George man ignored the excessive 2.73-cent per ton mile rate for P.G.E. freight? That was a point of infection any successful operation had to remove.

Mr. Harding had an engaging way of making his points or pleading for his riding—he wants a subsidy to keep the Lady Minto on the Arrow Lakes, or a road to give north-south transportation.

Kangaroo Government

He was bright and sprightly when he explained his reason for calling the administration a kangaroo government. Mr. Bennett was the kangaroo, hopping all over the place. In the pouch he carries all the party. Once in a while one of the little members, maybe the Minister of Health and Welfare, pokes his head up to see where they're going.

There was, however, an unusual cuteness to his tongue when he dressed down Thomas Audley Bate, third member for Vancouver-Point Grey. That formerly amiable young Social Credit had developed a peculiar habit in the last two days. He interrupts, apparently for the sake of interrupting, with the query, "What year was that?" or "Are you sure of that?"

"Listen here, son," said Mr. Harding, "you just shut up and keep your ears open and you'll learn something."

The same reprimand in different phrasing had been addressed to Mr. Bate earlier by Prince Rupert's Liberal, Arthur Bruce Brown.

Mr. Brown seemed a little tired and admitted his unwillingness to be stirred yesterday as he was Monday night on the P.G.E. debate.

He made a common-sense plea for early introduction of labor amendment bills to prevent what is sometimes called "legislation by exhaustion" in the dying hours of the session.

Mr. Brown, who looked legally good on the technicalities of debate Monday night, isn't happy over the refusal of cabinet members to provide figures and facts he seeks. He, with a lot of other British Columbians, is alarmed by the amount of money the Government proposes to spend. He is surprised at the Social Credit attitude on the P.G.E. which he describes as acceptance of the extensions north and south because Mr. Johnson looked into the question and approved them.

And Mr. Brown put in a word for the municipalities, seeking compensation for the sums they would lose through Government exemptions on certain items under the sales tax.

After Monday's storm, the Legislature was generally placid. There was time to congratulate Premier Bennett on the birth of a grandson, Esquimalt's Mr. Bruch on a birthday, and to wish Oak Bay's ailing Liberal, Archie Gibbs, a quick recovery and early return to the House.

Smart New Convertible Awaits Duke's Return

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh will pick up a new green convertible in May when he returns from the Commonwealth tour with the Queen.

The six-cylinder, standard design auto is a coupe capable of speeds up to 100 miles an hour, with normal fittings of radio, air conditioning, heater and demister.

The Duke, partial to fast cars, spotted the model at the motor show last fall and liked it.

One touch not included in the factory model: The top operates by push button.

Williston Offers New Education Finance Formula

Costs Shared But Autonomy Retained

A solution to B.C. education financing was presented to the Legislature Tuesday by Ray Williston (SC, Fort George), who suggested a "commonly shared load" of 10 mills as basis for school operation.

Mr. Williston, who has been mentioned as possible successor of Education Minister Robert Bonner (also attorney-general), said there should be some equating factor linking each school district because problems of districts varied, plus a measure of local control shared on an 80-20 basis between school authorities and the provincial government.

An outright 80-20 split would not be equitable as richer districts would not be carrying a full share while poorer districts would suffer.

He predicted that "within a year" a permanent solution to provincial-municipal school financing would be found.

BELOW B.C. AVERAGE

While the school population in B.C. had risen 56.1 per cent between 1944 and 1952, said Mr. Williston, Greater Victoria school population had increased only 31 per cent. Victoria city 24.5 per cent, Esquimalt 23.4 per cent, Oak Bay 48.6 per cent and Saanich (in district No. 61) 41.3 per cent.

The percentage of total municipal budgets allocated to school costs in Victoria city in 1952 was 20.06 per cent, Esquimalt 21.76 per cent, Oak Bay 34.35 per cent and Saanich (combined districts No. 61 and 63) 26.22 per cent.

Mr. Williston, formerly a school inspector in his home riding, said it was "a marvel" that with the increase in students, there had been such a slight increase in municipal costs.

DUNCAN — Hopes that a breakwater will be constructed in Cowichan Bay were strengthened this week with the report that a federal engineer took soundings in the bay.

The government is "definitely committed and the money is available," said Capt. Don Peck, ship taxi and marine operator. He said last year 100 deep-sea ships called at the bay, and 100,000,000 feet of logs had been towed away.

POLITE—In Westbury, N.Y., counterman Robert Irwin smiled as he sold a medium-sized man a hamburger and placed it in the largest paper bag he had in his diner.

Minutes later a very tall man with a gun entered. His face was masked by a paper bag with eye-holes cut in it. He took $50 and said as he left: "Thanks for the bag."

NAMESAKE—In Dublin, Ind., town board manager Joe Seale waited until today to make this announcement: Dublin got its name from an old tavern called The Double Inn.

ECSTASY—In Santiago, Chile, visiting movie star Joan Fontaine was informed yesterday that Chile has no television. "Marvelous!" she exclaimed. "Long Live Chile!"

Socred $2 for $1 Tax Switch Hard on Cities, Brown Predicts

For every $1 the government will lose by abolishing hospital premiums, lifting sales tax from point where low income groups could have been exempted, no said.

FALLS ON CITIES—Mr. Brown predicted the new 5 per cent levy would reach the point of diminishing returns, and that municipalities would feel the burden. As it is now, municipalities receive one-third of the 3 per cent sales tax; when the new 5 per cent tax becomes effective they will receive one-fifth—which was no increase. He suggested by way of compensation, municipal goods and equipment otherwise taxable be freed of any sales tax whatsoever. Municipal revenue had increased only 100 per cent in the past five years, while provincial revenue had jumped 500 per cent, he pointed out.

If the proposed 5 per cent tax failed to produce the estimated revenue, he forecast hospital service might suffer, co-insurance might be boosted from $1 daily while hospitalized, or the premium system again established. He asked about coverage for Indians. Would natives remain wards of the federal government in hospitalization and be obliged to pay the 5 per cent sales tax as well?

Britain Faces Strike Action By 4 Million

Defense, Exports Would Be Paralyzed

LONDON (UP)—Britain faced a new threat of a paralyzing strike in the vital defense and export industries today.

Leaders of the 4,000,000-member Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions rejected a government recommendation of a five per cent pay increase and called an emergency council for next Wednesday to decide whether a strike will be called.

Gavin Martin, general secretary of the powerful confederation, said a five per cent government-backed wage offer cannot even be regarded as a basis for negotiations.

A strike of the affected unions would paralyze Britain's defense and export industries and critically upset Britain's economy.

The breakdown in negotiations came at a time when Britain appeared to have been emerging from a winter strike wave. Only last week Communist-led members of the Electrical Trades Union ended a "guerrilla" strike that had tied up construction projects across the nation.

Jordan Turns Down Proposed UN Talks

Vet of 'Emden' Sinking Has Big Hand for Philip

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—A 73-year-old seaman drew cheers from a big veterans' parade here today with an unannounced, unofficial and unrehearsed presentation of himself to Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

He is William McLennan, "Sparks" of the Australian cruiser Sydney when it sank the German raider Emden off the Cocos Islands in 1914.

His medals hanging on tattered ribbons from his lapel, an old walking stick in his hand and wearing clothes that had seen better days, McLennan seen better days, McLennan laughed and cheered.

CAN IKE BY-PASS CONGRESS?

Dulles' Statement On War Questioned

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some state department experts said privately today that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may have gone too far in claiming the president can by-pass Congress to order U.S. troops to defend some allies in an attack.

Dulles said Tuesday that the president—without going to Congress—has authority to order instant retaliation against any country attacking the United States or North Atlantic Treaty or Latin American nations. He based his sweeping statement on the premise that the senate gave its consent in advance in approving the NATO and RIO treaties.

Experts noted, however, that this interpretation conflicts with views of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when it recommended NATO ratification in 1949. In a unanimous report, the committee said the treaty did not give the president "the power to take any action, without specific congressional authorization, which he could not take in the absence of the treaty."

Others pointed out that both Houses of Congress must act to declare war whereas only the Senate ratified the two treaties. Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.), said if another nation is attacked, he believes it would be the responsibility of Congress to declare war.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said in a Philadelphia speech Tuesday night that if there were a "Pearl Harbor attack" while Congress was away the president would have "an obligation to immediately take all steps necessary to strike at the source of the aggression."

Robert Heywood Choice for Best Teacher's Award

Robert H. Heywood, head of the commercial department at Victoria High School, has been named Victoria's "Business Teacher of the Year" by the local chapter of the National Office Management Association.

The honor carries with it nomination for the international business teacher award to be made in May at the NOMA annual convention.

The person selected will be one of 144, since each of the association's 144 chapters in Canada and the U.S. makes a nomination.

Mr. Heywood's selection by the local chapter was a unanimous decision at a meeting Tuesday night in the Pacific Club. He has been a business educator more than 25 years.

George Hees Given Presidency Of National Tory Association

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—George Hees, young, energetic Toronto-born businessman, is the new president of the National Progressive Conservative Association of Canada.

The party's annual meeting Tuesday saw Gordon Churchill, Member of Parliament for Winnipeg South Centre, and Mr. Hees battle it out for the presidency. It was the first time in years that the annual meeting had witnessed a fight for the office of president.

'CONSERVATIVE' TERM BEST SAYS DREW

OTTAWA (BUP)—Opposition leader George Drew told delegates to the annual meeting of the National Progressive Conservative Association Tuesday night that their party was the "Conservative" Party.

He said it was progressive, liberal in the real meaning of the word, and democratic.

But he followed his usual practice of dropping the "Progressive" in most references to the party and explained why.

"There has been some discussion about the name of our party," he said, but although it was originally known as "Liberal-Conservative" and the British party was "Unionist and Conservative," he had never heard those "double-barrelled" names used from the platform.

Ike Defends Stevens Against McCarthy

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower emphatically defended Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens today against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's "blackmail" charges.

At the same time, Mr. Eisenhower urged at his weekly news conference that Americans avoid behaving hysterically because of what the President called unwise investigations.

The President spoke out as the Senate investigating subcommittee prepared to dig publicly into army charges that McCarthy (R-Wis.), its chairman, and Roy M. Cohn, its chief counsel, tried by pressure tactics to get special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

McCarthy and Cohn have said the army charges are false. Both accused Stevens and army counsel John G. Adams of trying to "blackmail" them into calling off their investigation of alleged communism in the army.

He added that if he did not believe in him, Stevens would not be kept in his job.

The subcommittee voted Tuesday to hold open hearings with the principles testifying under oath. It took the chairmanship temporarily from McCarthy and handed it to Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) for the duration of the inquiry. It will hire a new staff for the job.

McCarthy said he will expect the army to cross-examine him, and presumably he will expect to cross-examine army witnesses.

A Sordid Tale Unfolds

THE country and the Congress have been shocked as seldom before by the sordid tale of Senator McCarthy, committee counsel Roy Cohn, and their pet, Private David Schine.

Joseph

The shock would be immeasurably greater, however, if the Army Department had told the whole story. For policy reasons, Assistant Secretary of Defense Fred Seaton heavily censored the army's original account of McCarthy's and Cohn's attempts to extort special favors for Private Schine.

After this censorship, the document the army transmitted to members of the McCarthy investigating committee contained less than 5,000 words. The uncensored version ran very nearly three times as long. What was removed, moreover, was not mere superfluity. Three main types of material are known to have attracted the censor's pencil.

First, the whole document was studied with the disgusting obscurities in which Cohn persistently indulged, whenever he was bullying Army Department officials to give Schine special favors. The fact is hinted at in the published paper. This describes how Cohn's language forced Army Department Counselor John G. Adams to get out of a New York taxi in which he, Cohn and McCarthy were carrying on one of their arguments about Schine.

But the naked reality of Cohn's language on these occasions is stated by those who should know to be "like a blow in the face." The unbounded arrogance, the inflated egotism, the Nazi-like sense of power that Cohn displayed, was of course derived from his position as McCarthy's chief counsel. If this part of the story is ever told, no honorable American will be left with any lingering illusions about the true nature of McCarthyism.

Second, the original document also contained certain suggestions as to the nature of the McCarthy-Cohn-Schine relationship; here again, of course, there are clear hints in the published version.

Even after the censorship, McCarthy is repeatedly shown as telling army officials to give Schine the works, whenever Cohn is not present. But whenever Cohn is present, McCarthy is shown as sitting silent or even adding his voice to Cohn's, while his chief counsel goes to all lengths in demanding special favors for Schine. The implication is clear that Cohn possessed a peculiar power over McCarthy.

The original document reportedly contains an actual quoted confession by McCarthy that he wanted to get rid of Cohn, but was unable to do so. It is also understood to contain an indication that Cohn was receiving substantial financial assistance from Schine, while he was threatening to "wreck the army" in order to make his rich friend's life more comfortable.

This would help to explain Cohn's feverish desire to be of service to Schine. It does not explain the strength of Cohn's apparent hold on McCarthy.

Third and finally, the original document is known to have contained the record of attempts to act as peacemaker by at least one well-known member of the McCarthyite press. This man called army officials to promise that McCarthy's and Cohn's investigation of the army would be immediately called off, if Private Schine were only assigned to a soft berth in New York City. He spoke, he said, with authority.

This grossly indecent account of the most grossly shocking behavior by persons in high positions of public trust has been circulating in the upper echelons of the Eisenhower administration for a good many weeks.

At least a month ago, the complete text of the original document on the McCarthy-Cohn-Schine problem was communicated by the army to Assistant Attorney General William Rogers, in Rogers' capacity as White House adviser dealing with McCarthy. At least a fortnight ago, the document was passed up to Presidential Chief of Staff Sherman Adams. The whole document would have been placed in the record when Secretary of the Army Stevens appeared before the McCarthy committee, if Stevens had not voided this appearance by his surprise surrender.

Under the circumstances, it is impossible to believe that the Defense Department gave out the published version of the McCarthy-Cohn-Schine story without full White House approval. Such a crucial political move could hardly have been made without the knowledge of President Eisenhower himself, who certainly would not have wished to conceal the ugly facts.

As to the censorship, the aim was understandable. It was designed to tell the story soberly, plainly and unemotionally. Nonetheless, the full facts deserve to be published. Perhaps they will have to be published, as the best answer to McCarthy's and Cohn's phony howls of indignation.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

The Almost Conquered

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Dr. J. Arthur Myers, one of the leaders in tuberculosis work in this country, recently wrote me that the National Tuberculosis Association is soon going to celebrate the close of its first 50 years of service. In May, 1905, Dr. E. L. Trudeau, the first president of the association, and the first man in America to prove that tuberculosis can be arrested by care in a sanatorium, said that he felt discouraged at the magnitude of the task that lay ahead. He felt that the first great need was for the education of people everywhere, if only so that those with the disease would stop infecting others, and particularly the children about them. At that time there were only 96 hospitals, homes or sanatoriums for tuberculosis in the whole United States.

Since then, more and more success has come to those who have fought not only tuberculosis, but the apathy and the ignorance of people in regard to the disease. Today there are more than 3,000 anti-tuberculosis organizations in the United States, all struggling to educate the public, and to help patients with the disease.

Since 1907 the main source of funds to carry on the work has been the sale of Christmas Seals which, in 1952, brought in $23,000,000. In spite of all that has been done, the cost of fighting tuberculosis in the United States today is still some $600,000,000 a year.

RATE DROPS RAPIDLY

In 1904, 194 persons died of TB for each 100,000 of population, while in 1952 only 16 so died. Since 1947, with the coming of isoniazid and other healing drugs, the number of persons who are dying is much less than it formerly was, but still there are too many persons who remain sufficiently ill so that they can keep scattering the dangerous germs about, and infecting their relatives and neighbors.

In 1904, most of our cattle had tuberculosis, and this was the cause of a tremendous amount of severe illness of children, with awful deformities of their joints and backs. Today probably only 0.11 per cent of cattle harbor tubercle bacilli. In fact, today, cattle are probably more often infected by human beings than are human beings infected by cattle.

As Dr. Myers writes, today one difficulty arises, ironically, from our very success with tuberculosis. Having got the idea that tuberculosis is conquered, many of us see no more need for fighting on, and this threatens the loss of much of the ground that has been gained. With a little more effort we Americans should be able before long to wipe tuberculosis right out of our country. But if we leave among us a certain number of persons who keep constantly coughing tubercle bacilli out into the air, things can get worse again. We just must keep fighting tuberculosis until the germs are all gone.

DRUG DISCOVERED ACCIDENTALLY

Often in science men find something very different from what they were looking for. My old friend Dr. Walter B. Cannon, of Harvard, the great physiologist, used to call this serendipity. The story as I remember it was that three princes of Ceylon, or Serendip, as it was called in ancient times, set out through the world to find certain things, but they found some other things, perhaps more valuable than those that they were looking for.

Avhile ago, while chemists were synthesizing new drugs closely related in structure to morphine, they found one which they called nalorphine, or naline, and then they discovered they had run onto a most useful and life-saving drug. Sometimes when a patient, perhaps trying to commit suicide, takes a tremendous overdose of morphine, his or her respiration practically stops, and death soon follows. Now, all the doctors have to do when the patient is brought into the emergency hospital, is to give him or her an intravenous injection of nalorphine, and within a minute the breathing starts up, and the patient is well.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

England is getting alarmed over the rising tide of lawsuits being filed against the National Health Service. As Dr. S. Cochrane Shanks said recently, people have discovered that, under the new laws, a man can sue the government for its not having cured him. Worse yet, he can make the government furnish him a free lawyer and pay the costs of his suit, even when, later, the court finds that he had no case!

Slove. He served overseas in the First World War, and worked as a logger and miner.

Other survivors include a sister, Mrs. H. Stocks, Victoria.

NANAIMO—Arthur Sereth, operator of Eureka Sawmills here with 100 employees and an annual payroll of $600,000 has announced the mill will close March 31 because of a "series of obstructions that have plagued the company."

He said refusal of Nanaimo Yacht Club to allow the company to build a new sorting ground in the harbor was the "last straw."

"They just don't seem to want us over there," he said in his Vancouver office.

LANGFORD—Films on the Diocese of Qu'Appelle will be shown at the Lenten service in St. Matthew's Church hall tonight at 8.

TOFINO (CP)—Two Vancouver-Island west coast Indian fishermen are being treated here for exposure and shock after swimming ashore from their small boat which was blown nearly 100 miles and wrecked on a reef.

The pair, Archie Thompson and Bert Mack, lost the boat's gasoline tank Monday off Bamfield, at the mouth of Alberni Canal. They rigged a sail, but winds drove them past Ucluelet to Long Beach, where the small craft struck a reef and sank. They swam to shore and later were taken to Tofino.

SIDNEY—Ratepayers here voted, $33-67, Tuesday in favor of the $190,000 sewer by-law.

The system, to be paid for out of general revenue with no increase in taxes, will serve 1,100 persons.

DUNCAN—A citizens' committee that will consider ways and means of financing a new hospital here includes W. K. B. Farquhar, Hector Stone, B. W. W. Cocks, George Whittaker, Mrs. V. Lloyd, J. G. Stothers, Lindsay Loutet and Percy Hawkins.

NANAIMO (CP)—John T. Bennett, who received a neighbor's car a year ago to clean it up preparatory to selling it, appeared in police court Monday on a charge of automobile theft. Bail was set at $1,500.

After receiving the car from H. J. F. James, Bennett, formerly of Lantzville, B.C., moved to Victoria and eventually to Ontario. He was returned here a week ago to face trial.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Police 'Ghost' Cars Alberta Scheme to Reduce Accidents

EDMONTON (CP)—Police "ghost" cars carrying officers in plain clothes will begin to patrol Alberta highways this spring.

This announcement was made in the legislature Tuesday night by Attorney General Lucien Maynard who said this was "fair warning that we are out to get the offending motorist in an attempt to cut down the number of traffic accidents."

As outlined by Mr. Maynard, the police cars will work in pairs separated by a few miles. They would be equipped with two-way radios. The car behind would contain plain clothes policemen. It would travel at the provincial speed limit.

When a vehicle passed the rear car it would not attempt to apprehend the offender but radio to the car ahead. Evidence would be given in court by the officers in the rear car.

PILOT'S BODY RECOVERED

GIMLI Man. (CP)—The body of an RAF student pilot killed in the crash of a jet trainer Feb. 26 has been recovered from Lake Winnipeg, an RCAF spokesman reported Tuesday night.

The crash took the life of PO C. P. Bell, 19. The air force said funeral arrangements are being made with the youth's father, James Bell of Northumberland, England. The body was recovered Monday night.

MURDER TRIAL

CALGARY (CP)—Evidence introduced Tuesday at the murder trial of Pte. Walter Clorpsiz quoted the 17-year-old Windsor, Ont., soldier as saying "I killed him, he won't torment me any more."

Clorpsiz is charged with the murder of fellow-soldier Pte. Robert Bilow, 21, of Winchester, Ont., shot Jan. 5 in a washroom at Currie barracks here.

The trial opened Monday in supreme court before Mr. Justice Boyd McBride.

Pte. John Thomas Cathrell quoted Clorpsiz as saying following Bilow's death: "I've killed him. He won't bug me any more." Under cross-examination, Cathrell agreed the word used was probably "torment" rather than "bug."

Pte. Zane George Sheplaw said Clorpsiz handed his .303 calibre service rifle to a lance corporal and said: "I told him to leave me alone but he kept picking on me."

YEARS' GRAIN PROSPECTS

WINNIPEG (CP)—While many parts of the southern United States grain belt are suffering from a severe drought, moisture prospects for western Canada are considered by grain men here to be reasonably good.

Present indications are that the main requirements for an average wheat yield of 16.2 bushels an acre in western Canada are normal spring and summer rains.

But, says Maj. H. G. L. Strange, head of the Searle Grain Co.'s research department: "No one can predict the coming crop because no one can predict rainfall. We can only hope. We're not too concerned. We've had good rainfall three years running now."

This in contrast to the United States, where recent crop re-

Father Jailed Year For Beating Child

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Peter A. Selluski, a 30-year-old mechanic, today was sentenced to one year in jail for beating his two-and-a-half-year-old daughter because her coughing annoyed him.

Selluski pleaded guilty to the charge in city police court Tuesday after his wife complained that he "got mad" when young Betty Lyne was unable to stop coughing, and whipped the girl with his leather belt.

Doctors at the General Hospital said the child had "huge welts" on her stomach, legs and the small of her back and bruises on her face.

FARROT SAVES CHILD

LENTINI Sicily (Reuters)—The Marletta family's pet parrot got the credit today for saving the life of their daughter, Palma, who had dashed into the road in front of a truck. The parrot flew from its perch and fluttered in front of the driver's windshield, forcing him to stop only a few feet from the three-year-old child.

24 Britons Fired

LONDON (Reuters)—Twenty-four British civil servants have been dismissed on security grounds, Richard Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons Tuesday. Seventeen of them were in industrial branches and seven in non-industrial. Another 72 had been transferred to other duties.

WHL Race Tightens As Canucks Beaten

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

With exceeding temerity, but nonetheless sound reason, the suggestion is made that the city fathers and their counterparts take under advisement the following scheme that Toronto youngsters unanimously approve.

The temerous approach is natural in view of the fact that every civic body likes nothing better than to have the idea originate from within, not without.

The sound reasoning behind the suggestion is that city and district youngsters will benefit. And any scheme from which the children will benefit is beneficial to the community.

The program now nearing completion in Toronto is for several artificial outdoor rinks which will put winter-long skating within three quarters of a mile of the home of every Toronto youngster.

Introduced by a private group in 1950, the artificial facilities have become a model for several other cities around the world.

Four of these municipally-operated rinks have now been completed in Toronto. They are permanent installations and convertible to four tennis courts each in the summer months.

Rinks are used for both pleasure skating and hockey and are open daily from 9 a.m. to 10:45 p.m. on week-days and from 1:30 to 6 p.m. Sunday. Skating is free week-days and Friday nights; other nights and Sunday there is a 15-cent charge for children and 25 cents for adults.

Cost High, But Value Worth It

The artificial rinks cost $125,000 each to build. They cost approximately $15,000 a year to operate but return about $5,000 profit each. More than 80,000 persons used the rinks last winter and countless thousands of children skated free during the day.

The plan is so successful in Toronto, where for years natural ice rinks and hockey rinks have predominated, that now it is estimated that each artificial rink will eliminate 10 natural rinks.

Plans have already been advanced for an additional five artificial rinks this year and hopes are high for five more next year.

Victoria has no natural ice problem as confronts the Toronto Parks Commission which controls 90 natural ice rinks and 63 natural hockey rinks at a yearly cost of $207,000, so the start could be made from scratch.

Seriously, the thought is worth entertaining here in the city and district and should be studied with a view to providing at least one such rink in each municipality, even though the plan may be a long-range one.

Such facilities would be more than welcome and long overdue.

Ask the kids!

Ernie Fox, the former hockey PA announcer and basketball star certainly is living the life of Riley as a member of the RCAF. Latest report on Ernie's meanderings comes from far-off Sarasota, Florida. "On course," Ernie wrote, and he must have been smiling when he penned those time-worn Air Force words, for on the back of the note was the complete roster of the Boston Red Sox of the American League. Another former Victoria athlete is in the news. Gerry Main of rugby fame has been named as a member of the all-star eastern Canadian English rugby team to compete in the international rugby tournament at Bermuda, April 4-10.

B.E.G. COACH OPTIMISTIC

Canadian Swimmers Rate With Norman

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
VANCOUVER (CP)—If any body expects to beat Canadian swimmers at the July 30-Aug. 7 British Empire games here they'll have to come up with world-record times. So says Percy Norman who won his last race in 1933 and coached Canada's 1936 Olympic swimming team.

Percy is a meat salesman who can't keep a crease in his pants. He is also chairman of swimming for the games and coach of the Canadian team.

Interviewed in the steam-bath atmosphere of Crystal Pool, Vancouver's only indoor public swimming pool, Percy looked at his tubelike trousers, damp with perspiration and steam.

WIFE STOPS BEEFING

Below him, swimmers whose names are listed prominently in Canadian record books cut through the 74-degree water, dodging amateur divers and floundering "Sunday swimmers."

"Mrs. Norman stopped beefing long ago," he said, "both about the hours and the problem of keeping my pants pressed."

Percy said "we'll have one of the best groups ever to represent Canada this time."

Among names he expects to see on the Canadian team following the trials here July 5-7, are:

Stamps Meet Cats Tonight

Saskatoon 4, Vancouver 3

It'll be a battle right down to the wire for first place in the final Western Hockey League standings.

Vancouver Canucks, currently holding a two-point edge over Calgary Stampede with both teams having two games left to play, will have to wait until at least Friday when they play host to Seattle Bombers to clinch a first-place tie.

They lost an opportunity to ensure the deadlock Tuesday night when they bowed 4-2 to Saskatoon Quakers on home ice.

Calgary, meanwhile, will have to win their game against Victoria Cougars tonight in the Prairie city if they are to keep their chances alive for finishing in sole possession of top spot. The contest is the only WHL action scheduled.

Saskatoon's victory Tuesday night rounded out their coast tour at one win, three losses and boosted their third-place edge over Edmonton Flyers to three points. The score was tied 1-1 at the end of the first and 2-2 going into the third.

BULLER GETS WINNER

Hymie Buller came up with the winning goal after five minutes of the second period. The other Quaker markers were scored by Chuck Holdaway, Jim Ross and Eldie Kobussen.

Kobussen's tally came in the final minute after Canucks pulled goalie Lorne Worsley in a desperate effort to get the equalizer.

Vancouver marksmen were Bill Wylie and Larry Poppen.

Buller's winning goal came from a scramble in front of the net after Worsley had blocked two rapid shots.

No Fivepin Justice Here

By RON COULTER

What price fame?

Two Esquimalt Bowladrome fivepin trundlers—Frank Bendall and Alex Pylpa—must be wondering just what the odds must be for racking up a perfect 450 game.

Bendall, rolling in the Dockyard section, recently fired 17 strikes in 18 frames and still failed to become one of bowling's select few.

Pylpa hit for 11 strikes in one game, barely missing adding his name to bowling's honor roll.

Bendall, in his string, struck out in the second game with a six-timer, started the third with seven consecutive strikes, spared the eighth and then added four more strikes for a 410 third game score.

He concluded action with a 948 triple, after having scored 214 his first game and 324 the second, to set a new alley record for league play.

That record stood until Pylpa went to work Monday night. After rolling 283 in his first game, Pylpa spared the first frame in the second game and then added 11 strikes for a big 435 single. He finished with a 262 to set a new mark of 980.

Over at Capital City Bowladrome, youthful Bobby McLeod shot a 769 triple to pace the Major Fivepin League. Murray Martin, 747; Jack Ferguson, 739; John Christianson, 737; Bob Bird, 724; John Birkenhead, 722; Jim Nott and Bus Stoddart, 716; Fred Mair, 714; and Joe Burns at 705, pounded out other high scores.

Martin checked in a 330 singleton and McLeod a 310.

In Monday mixed action Jean Foster was tops with a 747 total. Elva Litherland, 681, and Millie Bombardier with 645 also claimed high triples.

Pat Fahey tallied a 727 in the week-end mixed section and Ken James posted a 688 in the mixed commercial division.

E. Sandahl led Gibson's Financial League with an 888 total, while Johnny Latham, 848, and Buz Long at 707 followed. Sandahl tallied a 375 singleton and Latham a 310.

Jerry Devine hit for a 734 in mixed play.

Don Pries, scrappy infielder and new manager of Victoria Tyees in the WFL, also throws a mean tenpin ball. Pries hit for a 225 singleton in open play to win Gibson's weekly prize last week.

Fivepin winners were Joan White, 311, and Dave Lowe at 355.

In Gibson's Junior Tenpin League, Steve Tattre turned in high single of 192, while John Dunnick and Garry Bishop claimed identical 427 triples. Dunnick leads the circuit with an average of 154.

Victoria zone tenpin singles champion Ken Munn will vie for the provincial crown in Vancouver this Friday and Saturday.

Champs Hardly Look the Part

By FRED DOWN, United Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees were off to one of the worst spring training seasons in their history today—and their rivals wondered if general manager George Weiss called the turn with his charge of "complacency."

The world champions, criticized by Weiss as "too complacent" when training started, have dropped seven of 10 exhibition games and suffered a virtual paralysis at bat. They've averaged only 3.8 runs a game and tumbled more than five runs in only one contest.

Tuesday's 5-3 loss to the Detroit Tigers was the Yankees' third straight and fifth in six games. They've tallied a total of 18 runs in the six games while allowing a total of 31.

Ed Lopat allowed one run and five hits in his three-inning debut and right-hander Harry Byrd struck out five Tigers in his five innings only to have the Bengals rally with three runs off Art Schallack in the ninth to gain the triumph.

Byrd engaged in a verbal battle with Detroit manager Fred Hutchinson when a fifth-inning pitch hit shortstop Harvey Kuenn on the left wrist. Kuenn, who hit .308 to gain American League "rookie of the year" honors last year, suffered a painful bruise which will keep him sidelined several days.

The Dodgers, apparently warming up for their series with the Yankees, beat the Washington Senators, 3-2, for their seventh straight triumph.

The high-flying Baltimore Orioles gained and lost a first baseman within a matter of hours. They purchased Eddie Waitkus from the Philadelphia Phillies in early afternoon, but learned Dick Kryhoski would be sidelined at least four weeks with a fractured wrist before sundown. Kryhoski was hit by a pitched ball on Monday but the x-rays didn't disclose the break until yesterday.

MESA, Ariz. (UP)—Mike Garcia, an 18-game winner for the Cleveland Indians in 1953, is finding the Grapefruit League a "hitter's heaven."

The burly right-hander was hammered for seven runs in five innings as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Indians, 9-8, Tuesday, and has yielded a total of 12 runs in seven innings this spring.

Around the Camps: The St. Louis Cardinals return today to St. Petersburg, Fla., after four straight victories over the Chicago Cubs in the west. The Philadelphia Athletics placed the only unbeaten Grapefruit League record today against the line today against the Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Don Johnson, 15-game winner for Toronto last year, allowed two runs in six innings as the Chicago White Sox beat the Milwaukee Braves, 8-3, and Duke Markell, another International League star who pitched a no-hitter for Syracuse, yielded three runs in six innings although the Philadelphia Phillies bowed to the Cincinnati Reds, 8-4.

City Baseballers Start Training

The Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association representative team, Farmer Construction, will hold a training session at Centennial United gym tonight starting at 7.30.

About 12 senior amateur baseball players Tuesday night attended the first indoor workout of the season and were put through calisthenics by instructor Jimmy Morrison.

Thursday night's workout time will be from 9 to 10.

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—George Grantham, 53, former major league baseball star, died Tuesday night from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Thunderbird, Bruno Try Again Thursday

By popular demand, Chief Thunderbird and Con Bruno will again try to break each other's heads Thursday night at Victoria Ballroom.

The pair met in a wild wrestling bout last week, the match being terminated by the Victoria Sports Commission when it became apparent both grapplers were thinking in terms of homicide. The return bout will be the best-of-three falls with no time limit.

The second bout will be another in the series of eliminations to find an opponent for world champion Lou Thesz for a match here next summer.

Sure, and Where Are the Irish?

NEW YORK (UP)—Jack Dempsey, still a fine broth of a man despite his advancing years, today marked St. Patrick's Day by crusading for the return of Irish-American fighters.

"Let's bring the Irish back to boxing," said the former world's heavyweight champion. "I mean the real fighting Irish of my time. They were the guys who always attracted the big crowds and kept the sport going."

Seated at a table in his midtown restaurant, the 38-year-old Manassa mauler then went on to explain it was fighters like Gene Tunney, Tommy Loughran, Mickey Walker and Jimmy McLarnin who helped keep the turnstiles clicking. "And how about my two fights with Tunney?" Dempsey asked proudly. "The first fight drew almost $2,000,000 and the second was over $2,500,000. They were naturals and so were others involving Walkers, McLarnin, Loughran, Mike Tigue and Jimmy Braddock."

"An Irishman always is willing to pay to see a good fight," Jack continued, "especially if one of his own is in there throwing the punches."

According to Dempsey, boxing continually revolves through different cycles. "During my time most of the fighters were sluggers," he said. "Then we had a run of the championships. A check through the record books discloses that the last Celtic warrior to hold a world title was flyweight Rinty when the Irish, the Italians and Monaghan. Before that it was the Polish dominate the sport. Billy Conn, who surrendered those are cycles, too, but his fight-heavyweight crown now I'd like to see some good more than 10 years ago to camp Irish kids back fighting for paign as a heavyweight."

Mother-in-Law Blames Self at Murder Trial

'Didn't Fulfill Our Duties' Woman Tells Vancouver Court at Gash Hearing

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mother-in-law of 19-year-old William Makefield Gash, on trial on a charge of murdering Frank Pitsch, 45, last Dec. 11, testified Tuesday that Gash "got into trouble because we didn't fulfill our duties as parents."

680 VICTORIANS RUSH TO BLEED FOR RED CROSS

Red Cross blood donors surpassed another daily quota when 330 turned up at Red Cross House Tuesday.

Officials aimed at 1,200 pints during the four days the mobile clinic will operate here, 300 a day.

But Monday at HMC Dockyard 380 pints were donated. If the daily quotas for today and Thursday are achieved, it will be a new record for Victoria. Officials feel the increased needs for blood donations for anti-polio Gamma Globulin production as well as hospital transfusion are being wisely recognized.

Vancouver Woman Victim of Pills

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Vera Station, 35, whose body was found on the shore of Trout Lake March 6, died from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Dr. T. R. Harmon, pathologist, told a coroner's jury he found a "pink, chalky" substance which proved to be barbiturate.

Another doctor, John Alexander MacDonald, testified he had attended Mrs. Station Feb. 7 and prescribed a barbiturate. "She was in good general health, but there was some domestic disturbance for which she needed assistance," he said.

Dairymen Ask For Return of Milk Controls

Reimposition of milk controls was asked Thursday by delegates of Fraser Valley primary producers at a meeting with the provincial cabinet.

Decontrol, said delegates, has been tried and proven detrimental. As a result the milk industry today was in a "demoralized" state with wholesale price cuts meaning lower returns to primary producers. "We feel action must be taken to stem the current trend," stated the short brief presented the cabinet.

Fraser Valley economy is based primarily on dairying, and producers viewed with alarm "an industry over which we have no control."

PIONEER DIES

Easter Seals for Crippled Children

Annual Easter seal campaign in aid of British Columbia's crippled children gets under way here as Mrs. A. R. Cann, Mrs. W. G. Cullimore and Mrs. E. S. Cross begin mailing 33,000 seals to residents of Greater Victoria. Last year the seal campaign, sponsored by the Victoria and Esquimalt Lions Clubs, netted $10,500. Donations were made to the Cerebral Palsy Association, Queen Alexandra Solarium, a room was equipped at Jubilee Hospital for orthopedic surgery, and individual cases were aided.

Canadian Navy A-Age Role Vital, Mainguy Says; Expansion Speeded

The anti-submarine, escort type of fleet maintained by Canada's navy will "never be outmoded until aircraft take over the work of merchant ships, and perform it as economically and efficiently."

This was the answer given by Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of naval staff, to suggestions atomic-age weapons may make naval power obsolescent.

"Naval escort craft are essential, and will continue to be," he said. "I don't necessarily mean surface escort craft. But nothing in the foreseeable future will do away with the need for a strong navy, ready to expand in time of emergency."

Admiral Mainguy is in Victoria on an inspection of RCN ship and shore establishments. At a press conference Tuesday, the chief of naval staff revealed: 1. Intake of men into the navy has stepped up sharply in the past three months, is "highly satisfactory." At present 85 men are being admitted to HMCS Cornwallis, the primary training establishment, each week.

"We are still short of our target, 21,000 officers and men," he said. "But we are getting recruits as fast as we can absorb them and there is, in fact, a waiting list."

2. Establishment of a cadet training unit here to handle 150 potential officers does not mean the navy is "moving out" of the tri-service college plan. "We don't want to go it alone. We need men who know more than seamanship."

"The day is past when the navy is a sole entity. More than one service is involved in every operation of modern warfare."

3. Canada is manufacturing much of her own naval armaments, including modern anti-submarine torpedoes and missiles. The objective is to "keep the production plants ticking over" so production can be stepped up in time of emergency.

Armaments not needed for Canada's own use are distributed as mutual aid to other NATO countries.

4. Canada's dwindling merchant fleet is not the military problem it might appear to be on the surface. In time of war Canada can draw on the pooled merchant ships of NATO countries, in return for keeping up her obligation to NATO.

5. There has been no indication the three RCN destroyers in the Korean area will be withdrawn. "They will remain there at least until after the Geneva conference, and they will stay there until the UN suggests their withdrawal."

6. There has been no indication the RCN will be committed to action in the Indo-China area.

7. Morale in the Korean destroyers is high. "One might say, surprisingly high."

8. There is no intention at present of adding submarines to Canada's fleet. "Undoubtedly, submarine service is valuable training for anti-submarine officers. But our main use for submarine is in tactical exercises. We work with RN and USN subs. A few Canadian officers are being trained in RN submarines."

9. Target date for activating the Rocky Point arsenal is May, 1955. The navy will continue to use the present Colwood magazine for other purposes.

Triplet Boys Born To Smithers Couple

SMITHERS, B.C. (CP)—A set of triplets, believed to be the first born in this district, were delivered to Mr. and Mrs. John Murray in Bulkley Valley Hospital Tuesday.

The triplets are the couple's first children.

SAANICH REASSESSMENT ADDS $2.3 MILLION TO TAX ROLL

Reassessment in Saanich has resulted in a taxable assessment total of $28,966,638, an increase of $2,339,187 over the 1953 rolls. F. Stanley Green, municipal assessor reported.

A total of 1,370 assessments were increasing during last summer's survey, he said. There were only 347 assessment reductions.

Taxable improvements in the municipality are assessed at $24,243,925 and land at $4,722,713.

Thomas C. Isherwood Dead; Hotelman Here for 13 Years

Funeral services for Thomas Clayton Isherwood, 61, who died Sunday, were held at Christ Church Cathedral today.

A former city hotelkeeper, Mr. Isherwood once operated both the Churchill and the Westholme Hotels. He was 13 years in business here before his retirement in 1946. Born in Manchester, Eng., he came here first during the thirties but moved to the Prairies, not to return until 1940.

Mr. Isherwood is survived by his wife, Leota Bertha, at the family home, 2459 Lansdowne, and four sons, Foster at Hope, Joseph in Nanaimo, George in Ladysmith and John at Victoria.

A sister, Mrs. Nellie Hallett, lives at 903 Burdett. His brother Norman operates the Angela Hotel here.

Following last rites, conducted by Rev. William Hills, burial was at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Born in Rossland, B.C., Mrs. Hills came here as a child with her parents, Alderman and Mrs. George B. Casey. A week ago she wrote a letter from her hospital bed asking that friends who wished to remember her would send donations to the B.C. Cancer Institute.

Besides her husband, survivors include two sons, Stewart of Vancouver, and George, 9, and a daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Skidmore of Terrace, B.C. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

C. J. Williams Elected By City Jewelers

Members of the Victoria Jewellers' Association elected C. J. Williams as their 1954 president at the annual meeting Tuesday night in the Yarrow Building. He succeeds Ray Rose.

Ray Johns was elected vice-president and Roy Hebden was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Jack Jeffries was chosen publicity director. Among the guests was Gordon Day, Toronto, official of the Bulova Watch Company.

U.K. Papers Have Praise For Pearson

LONDON (CP)—The Star says editorially today that L. B. Pearson's "Washington" address Monday "can do nothing but good in the integration of strength among the Atlantic powers" and praises the Canadian external affairs minister as one of the Commonwealth's outstanding statesmen.

The Liberal newspaper calls Pearson a man of "great political insight, strength of character and forthrightness of expression."

The Evening News, a Conservative newspaper, terms Pearson's address, which urged the United States to confer with its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies on all issues, "wise words as well as brave."

It says Canada has a "unique" right to utter them because of her standing as one of NATO's founders and in the world.

Canada was the "linchpin" of NATO. "Her position and her steadily increasing power and wealth give her responsibilities as well as rights. How sensibly she is using them."

MINOR MYSTERY

REDCAR, England (CP)—A four-foot seal weighing 56 pounds was found dead in a ditch near this Yorkshire town—more than three miles from the sea.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Well, faith and begorrah, it was good enough for March 17, 1952, and March 17, 1953, it should be good enough for March 17, 1954.

This is the day to wear the green,
To honor the land you've never seen,
When every Harry, Tom and Dick,
Swears his name is spelled "PAT-rick."

And a great day it is, this day, for the likes of Patrick Fitzgerald, 2716 Dewdney; Patrick Mahoney, 1887 Townley; Patrick O'Connor, 522 Admirals; Patrick Casey, 802 Bay; Patrick O'Bryenne, 606 Yates.

"This a great day for every man Pat of them.
Indeed (or should I say indade?) 'tis a great day also for Michael O'Neill, 625 Michigan, and Michael O'Brien, 1036 Hampshire, and Michael O'Reilly at Cordova Bay.

Oh, 'tis a great day for all the Pats and Mikes and O'Tooles and O'Flynn, for never a one need wear a shamrock this day to prove his right to strut with his hat over his eye and his elbows crowding the common folk a little.

It's a great day for the Irish, especially those with names redolent of the Auld Sod itself.
Being good Irishmen all, they'll be careful to stay out of trouble this St. Patrick's Day, and never to raise a harsh word or lift a fist in anger.

A peaceful race, the Irish are, and if you care to deny it, I'll thank you step outside in the alley for a moment, Me mither's mither's mither came from Ireland, I'll have ye know.

And thus endeth Between Times second year of cluttering up this space.
In all sincerity, I'd like to express my appreciation to all of you who have been courageous enough to follow my daily meanderings.

I must admit, producing this daily stint is more fun than work.
But it wouldn't be any fun at all if you good people didn't read it.

So thanks to all of you. I hope you'll stick around for another year.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce has invited Earl Alexander of Tunis, British defense minister, to speak at a general meeting of the chamber during his visit to the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

A man who said he was "in a hurry" landed in trouble when he passed, on the inside, a car driven by a city detective. He also was said to have been weaving in and out of traffic and couldn't quite wait for a green light before starting across an intersection. For his actions, Magistrate H. C. Hall Tuesday imposed a $35 fine on Percival L. Impey, 1748 Davie, and restricted his driving for two months to business purposes only.

A defense that it might have been his car but he wasn't driving it, failed to save George E. Bates, 440 Bay, from a $50 fine for failing to report an accident. In city police court Tuesday, Magistrate H. C. Hall explained that the car owner is legally responsible for the misdeed unless he proves the car was driven by someone else without consent.

By J. A. HUNTER

Jim and Joe were talking about their jobs, both being salesmen but working for rival firms. "They're a bit mean about expenses," grumbled Jim. "What about your people?" "I've got them well trained; they couldn't be better," replied Joe, and added, "Last week I spent as much on Monday as on Wednesday, on Tuesday five bucks less than on Friday; on Thursday I spent two dollars more than the amount by which Tuesday's expenses were less than Monday's, and on Wednesday I spent more than six dollars. The funny thing was that each day's expenses came to an exact number of dollars with no odd cents, and altogether I spent just twenty-nine dollars." "Gee," gasped Joe, "that was surely some expense account. But what did you spend on Friday?" Can you answer Joe's query?

Tuesday's Answer: The exact time would have been three-eighths of a minute after five-twenty-seven.

Housewife Praised In Thief's Capture

Police Arrest Burglar 'in the Act' After Neighbor Suspicion Aroused

A thief and housebreaker with a criminal record stretching over 16 years, showing convictions in Ottawa, Camrose and Calgary, was caught in the act Tuesday night by a city housewife.

Leo Allen, 45, 1203 Blanshard, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft today after a frustrated attempt to loot the home of Alfred Fowles, 499 St. Charles Street. He was remanded to Thursday for sentence by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court.

The curiosity of a woman, neighbor Mrs. Mary Jones, brought police to the scene just in time to catch Allen red-handed. He was arrested in the kitchen of the Fowles' home, his pockets stuffed with valuables and a box of other booty packed for getaway.

Mrs. Jones told the Times her suspicions were aroused when she noticed that an unexpected visitor to the house next door was "drunk."

She said her husband, Gordon Jones, a government worker, had left the house to put his car away at about 7.15. When he came into the house he told his wife, "The Fowles are home... their lights are on."

COLLECTED MAIL
Mr. and Mrs. Fowles departed for California on the 10th. They had arranged with Mrs. Jones to pick up their mail and the paper until they returned because as Mrs. Jones said, "It's not a very good sign when these things collect on the porch."

So Mrs. Jones, surprised at the Fowles' family early return, went next door with the mail. While nearing the house, "I saw a figure in the bedroom and I knew it wasn't any of the Fowles."

"I rang the buzzer, but no one came to the door. The venetian blinds (in the bedroom) closed and the light went off."

Faintly alarmed, Mrs. Jones turned away, but the door opened and a man looked out. "Are the Fowles home?" she asked.

"They'll be back at 9," the intruder told her.

NOT STAYING
Mrs. Jones said the man identified himself as a nephew, and "he was plastered, and was wearing a coat, as if he didn't intend to stay."

She added that even then she hesitated about phoning the police, but meanwhile her husband observed the man go through the kitchen and upstairs. He phoned and in a short time two detectives, a sergeant and two constables arrived.

"The man (Allen) didn't want to let the police in and kept maintaining that he was the owner. He told them that he was a brother and then tripped himself by saying he was a nephew of the family."

But detectives Louis Callan and Norman Bath, Sergeant S. Dunnell and constable K. Hollett and B. Thomas may have looked too formidable a force to withstand for long. Allen admitted them.

LOOT IN POCKETS
In his pockets were an electric razor, a clock and a watch and chain and a pen and pencil set. In a box near the door of the kitchen were a radio and a man's suit, neatly packed.

Mrs. Jones was brought into the Fowles kitchen to assure the police that Allen was not one of the house occupants.
The actions of Mrs. Jones were commended by Inspector of Detectives Charles Webb.

"It is gratifying to receive such splendid co-operation in promptly notifying police of suspicious happenings. Whenever residents are absent from their homes and neighbors notice something out-of-the-ordinary, the police should be summoned," he said.

Former City Aldermen Score Secrecy
Three of last year's aldermen have come out against Mayor Claude Harrison's new procedure by-law which would make secret the deliberations of council committees, and would give him power to disclose any of any letter to council considered "defamatory" or "unusable."

Waldo M. Skillings, Percy B. Scourrah and J. Donald Smith, all former councilmen who sought to unseat the mayor at the last election, have expressed concern with the proposed by-law's intentions.

Mr. Skillings said: "I think the time has come when the aldermanic board should exercise its rights and prerogatives and in no uncertain terms refuse to support the mayor's procedure by-law."

Mr. Scourrah noted the move to close committee meetings was directly opposed to the mayor's election promise.

Mr. Smith said he was confident present aldermen would vote to reject the mayor's by-law in its present form. He felt the mayor should apologize and resign.

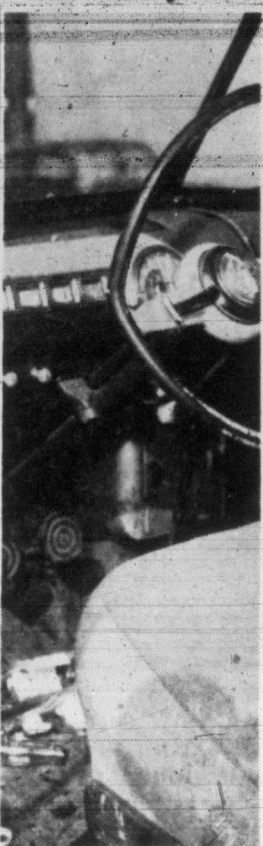

In the meantime, William Gage, partner in the electrical contracting firm of Mawson Gage, has expressed concern over the mayor's recent actions, and has urged all citizens to write their aldermanic representatives, urging them to vote against the proposed by-law.

Victoria's two main labor organizations have meetings scheduled for tonight at which the mayor's action are expected to come under fire.

The battery, commanded by Major T. Moore, has been renamed No. 4 LAA Battery of the regiment, to operate with the newly-formed 1st Canadian Infantry Division, Active Force.

The 119 HAA Battery is the other active force unit stationed at Work Point. It is commanded by Major A. W. Platt.

Vandalism

A sample of handiwork of hoodlums who do heavy damage to cars in city sales lots is this vehicle in National Motors View Street lot today. Empty beer bottles show cause-bent steering wheel, shattered windshield, torn upholstery and smashed dashboard, show results. Nearly every night an aerial or a spotlight is torn from a car somewhere in the city, hubcaps disappear, and even engine parts. This car is owned by Art Brown of Brown's Auto Sales. He left it for storage at the car company lot.

He is yet to be sentenced for two similar charges in Oak Bay, two in Saanich and one in Esquimalt.

In the majority of the entries, Fogg struck at an hour when occupants of the houses were absent at funerals. The magistrate said the thefts showed "careful planning."

Fogg called two character witnesses—Richard S. Irving, 1352 Pandora and Harold A. Hoben, 1312 Government—each of whom said they had known Fogg since September and rated his character as good.

Fogg appeared stunned by the sentence.

He said he found Davis and Diana Wilkins at his home on the night of November 8 after attending a celebration in Chinatown. He said they began to argue after they all had a drink.

"Miss Wilkins started to bawl me out for not getting her out of jail and Davis started butting in," said Lore.

"I told them to get out and ushered the pair to the door. There was no fight or brawl."

He said Davis and Miss Wilkins left his property in a car. The accused admitted that he has known Davis for a number of years.

Miss Wilkins, he said, lived at his home on occasions.

NO GUNFIRE

Lore's evidence was corroborated by Leong Hing, an elderly Chinese, who was at the accused's home on the night in question. Hing testified he heard no gun fired and that Lore had never left the house.

The Crown produced no witnesses who had seen the shooting or heard a gun go off. Police also found no foreign material or powder burns around a gash on Davis' temple.

Funeral-Hour Burglar Given Three Years

'Mean Thievery' Says Magistrate

The "funeral-hour burglar," Raymond Stephen Fogg, 25, was sentenced to three years in penitentiary today for what Magistrate H. C. Hall described as a "peculiarly mean sort of thievery."

Fogg received three years on each of three charges of breaking and entering in the city. The sentences will run concurrently.

He is yet to be sentenced for two similar charges in Oak Bay, two in Saanich and one in Esquimalt.

In the majority of the entries, Fogg struck at an hour when occupants of the houses were absent at funerals. The magistrate said the thefts showed "careful planning."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—What causes gales at the time of the equinox in March and September? W.G.L.

A.—"At the time of the equinox," says the Encyclopedia Britannica, "it is commonly believed that strong sales may be expected. This popular idea has no foundation in fact, for continued observations have failed to show any unusual prevalence of gales at this season." In fact, in one period of 50 years' observations showed gales and storms were fewer than in the five days before and after the 21st-25th of the month.

Q.—Is it not according to British social tradition regarding a wedding that the bridegroom, not the bride, is supposed to give presents to the bridesmaids? W.W.J.

A.—This column is informed it is a largely recognized custom in Canada and the U.S. for the bridegroom to give presents to the bridesmaids. As to whether the practice originated in Great Britain we are unable to say.

Victoria College Man Chosen For Year of Research in East

Professor G. Reid Elliott, associate professor of economics and commerce at Victoria College, has been singled out by the Canadian Social Science Research Council to spend a year at research in eastern Canada.

The Research Council invites only two or three professors each year to undertake such work under council auspices.

Selection of Prof. Elliott was viewed by Victoria College principal Dr. Harry Hickman towards a Ph.D. degree in German literature.

Mr. Tracy recently was awarded a research fellowship by the Humanities Research Council of Canada.

Prof. Elliott will complete this term and go east to University of Toronto during the summer. He will decide there what particular subject he will pursue.

Prof. Elliott has taught at Victoria College for the last five years.

Two other members of the College staff also are planning research work. Dr. Hickman revealed today.

John L. Climenhaga, assistant professor of physics, has been granted leave of absence for the session 1954-55 to accept a teaching assistantship assignment at the University of Michigan where he will continue graduate studies in astrophysics.

His place here will be filled for the year by David B. McLay, of Vancouver.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Smart Tartan Jumpers
Are Fine Quality Imports

By PENNY SAVER

Something new has been added . . . to the racks of a local woolen-importer's store!

Guess they're really for the tourists or something—but in the meantime, we've got 'em to ourselves, gals. The new tartan jumpers are dandies. They are made from that fine quality tartan (authentic, of course, although in miniature), with many well-known clan names represented.

The style is one that should prove popular. The sleeveless, fitted bodice overlaps in double-breasted manner with four self-covered buttons and a self-covered belt with gold buckle. The scoop neckline takes an extreme plunge and is framed by lapels which become fuller as they near the base of the scoop.

The skirt's right in style . . . it's slim with hipline pockets and front pleat . . . all this for $19.95, yet!

It's not taking the star twinkle long to catch here in Victoria! "Star Twinkle" is a bottle of tiny silver or gold flakes to scatter in your hair or on bare shoulders when you go to a fancy party or dance.

To me it's absolutely amazing how the stuff clings. You simply cannot shake it off or out of your hair. Use a comb, though, or a damp cloth and the bits of metal respond immediately.

Just one thing: Use with discretion. Several flakes, one here and there give the most fascinating effect, but too many will make you look like a glittering Christmas tree.

You pay $1.75 for one bottle—which, incidentally, lasts for ages—and besides coming in the gold and silver, you can get a bottle of multi-colored flakes. There's gold, silver, pink and two shades of blue.

Have you seen the new nail brushes in the forms of wee piggies? Best quality, they are made in England . . . natural bristles, too, and they cost $1.10.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Subtle Change in Hair
Color Will Provide Lift

It is as natural for a woman's thoughts to turn to hair styling and hats in the spring as it is for a woman to sing. Yesterday I told you about the Butterfly cut which is in the spring mood. Today I would like to discuss hair lightening.

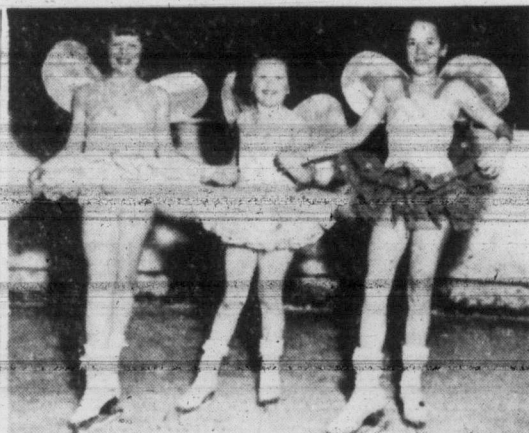

By this I mean adding highlights to the hair or making it a shade lighter all over. New York's Mr. Sofia believes that hair should be lightened only one shade for the average woman. He warns against making it four or five shades lighter.

Drastic changes in hair color are fine for your morale if you have the courage of your convictions. It is becoming and you wear it with authority. But, if you do not wish to do this, you can lighten mousy hair or give it highlights with the most flattering effects. The French have been lightening hair for a long time now and this practice has become very popular on this continent.

Mr. Sofia gives us two warnings. Remember that you must allow for oxidation. The hair looks lighter and even after the air has oxidized it. Also, do not have your hair dyed under fluorescent lights. These do not give you the true color. Have it done under as near to natural daylight as possible. Wonders of wonders! Today you can try on your new hair color before you have your hair dyed. In many smart salons you can now try on a hair piece and see exactly how the color becomes you. Fun? What?

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

There's a little unfinished business to take up in this column that dates back to the beginning of last year.

You may remember it was somewhere about that time that my friend Jean crowded me into helping her prune a peach tree. We used the scissors, the shears, the saw and a long-handled clipper we borrowed from the man across the road. It took us the better part of the day to clip the tree back to what we thought were the branches that would bear the most fruit—come the fall.

As I think of it now, the tree looked slightly odd when we had finished. A bit lopsided. In fact, if I'm being honest, it had a decided upswing on the one side and very little of anything on the other.

But as my friend Jean said at the time, "We've got to learn sometime and it might as well be now."

When we had completed the work we thought we hadn't done so badly... for amateurs. We even took a speculative look at the cherry tree... and the plum and two apple trees and the pear tree.

"Next year," said my friend Jean, with bright determination, "we'll get started earlier. All these trees need a good pruning." As the days progressed we watched the peach tree with more than a little interest. When the leaves started to sprout, we relaxed a little. When a few blossoms came out... we relaxed a little more.

When we saw a few green peaches appearing we forgot all about the tree. After all, we had done the pruning... now let Nature take its course.

The summer came, and every once in awhile the lady who owns the peach tree would look anxiously out the window and make a quiet remark that sounded like "I don't see many peaches"... or "...It seems to be taking the peaches longer than usual to mature."

"Patience!" said my friend Jean... just have patience!"

Not Many Peaches in Last Year's Crop

About then I went off to Japan for two months. When I returned the peaches had ripened... as I thought... been picked and, in the usual procedure, the lady who owned the peach tree had given the neighbors some of the fruit and made quantities into preserves.

That's what I thought.

So, one day I said brightly, "I suppose you had an extra good crop of peaches?"

There was a strained silence. The lady who owned the peach tree looked as if she didn't know whether to cry or to laugh. Finally, she did manage a short, amused chuckle.

"I had four dozen peaches," she said. "That's all."

Which completes the unfinished business and answers the questions I have received from time to time on what happened to the peach tree.

Of course there's a sequel.

A few weeks ago, it was time to prune the peach tree again. And, as my friend Jean had said, the other fruit trees needed a bit of trimming, too.

We talked about it... and we decided to give the scissors, the shears, the saw and the long-handled clippers from across the road another whirl.

But the lady who owns the fruit trees decided differently. Very quietly she enlisted the aid of an expert tree pruner.

So I think I can tell you even at this early date, there will be plenty of peaches to give away and to preserve this year.

Foods, Prices Discussed By Lake Hill Institute

A panel discussion on food and food prices was presented at Monday's meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute. Mrs. Roscoe Myles presided and members of the panel were A. G. Lambick, well-known Saanich dairyman; A. R. Murray, merchandise manager, Hudson's Bay Company; Mrs. E. J. Watson, member of the Local Council of Women; and with a good knowledge of co-operatives; C. D. Walton, manager meat and provision department, Hudson's Bay, and Archie Willis, public relation counsel for milk distributors of Victoria and Vancouver.

Interesting facts learned by the meeting included greater knowledge of the difference between farm wages and high cost of produce; that milk is one of the cheapest and best foods and that an increase in consumption of 1 per cent of one pint per person per day in British Columbia would absorb any surplus foreseen.

It was also pointed out in discussion that the change in the status of India has had very little effect on Canada's import of cotton.

A comprehensive list of 40 questions was presented to the panel by Mrs. Gilbert Howland, dealing chiefly with milk, meat and cotton.

AS WE LIVE

Spinster's Life Not Necessarily Lonely

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

One of the many arguments mothers use to persuade their daughters to get married is that they will be lonely otherwise. A young woman writes:

Hurlock

"Q. I am 32 years old and have made a real success of my work. I am fond of my job, have a lot of responsibility in it, and study hard to improve myself and my knowledge of the work so I can go ahead. My problem is my family. My mother and sisters are constantly telling me I should spend more time getting to know men and picking out a husband and less time on my work."

"They claim that I will face a very lonely life if I don't get married. I am very active in the church and different community organizations, have many friends where I work, so I haven't been lonely yet. I am wondering if they are right. I haven't found a man yet that I wanted to marry."

(A) The only reason for marrying is having found a person you love so much you could not be happy without him. You obviously have not found such a person.

As for a lonely life, that argument belongs to the past. There was a time when the only role a woman could play was that of a wife and mother. Unless she filled this role she belonged nowhere. Consequently, she was lonely.

You seem to have a place well established for yourself. You have not only a good job but also friends and interesting things to occupy your leisure time.

"A time will come when your family is gone and you will be on your own. Your sisters may live as long as you do, but they will be so busy with their families they will not have much time for you."

However, if you keep up your interests and contacts, you will be far from lonely. Furthermore, you may some day meet a man you really want to marry. Then and only then should you consider making a change.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15c in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Young children's eating habits are, to say the least, unconventional. But it doesn't pay to fret about it. When baby grabs and dabs at food it's reassuring to remember that, in spite of the mess, baby's learning hand-to-mouth coordination in his own way.

Easy does it! Don't make baby eat everything down to the last crumb. A child's appetite is usually a good guide to the amount of food he needs. Little appetites do vary from day to day, even as yours and mine.

Variety review. Appetite interest can usually be kept alive if you serve baby a variety of foods. Knowing the importance of variety, Gerber's offer 23 Strained Foods... including Fruits, Vegetables, Meat-Soups, Desserts, and Orange Juice. All have the special, smooth consistency that feels good on delicate tongues... all have the true-flavor, true-color goodness little ones find so appealing.

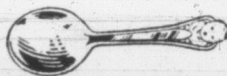

New use for an old favorite... and a delightful dish for baby's lunch.

HONEY-LEMON BEETS

1 container Gerber's Strained Beets
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons honey
1/4 teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients, heat and serve.

Temperature tip. To give baby's delicate woolens longer life, always wash in lukewarm (never hot) water. It's the heat that causes shrinkage, and detergents work just as well in tepid water.

Baby spoon special! This heavy silver plated Baby Spoon is in famous Winthrop design, regular $1.25 value. It's yours for only 25¢ plus one box top from any of the five famous Gerber Baby Cereals. Just send to: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

National Ballet Wins Ovations With Versatile, Varied Program

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
Versatility in style and range of expression were exhibited in Tuesday night's program by the National Ballet Company presenting the second of three performances at the Royal Theatre.

An excerpt from Tchaikovsky's romantic ballet, "Swan Lake", the modern dance-drama, "Dark of the Moon" and the elegant spoofing of classical form, "Gala Performance," were each received with an ovation by an obviously enthusiastic audience.

To the ballet lover for whom the art must be expressed in terms of truth, pinpoints and points, "Dark of the Moon" was undoubtedly a departure too violent to be assimilated in one viewing.

Ingenious sets by Kay Ambrose, brilliant interpretive dancing of Celia Adams as "Barbara Allen," David Adams as the Witch-Boy and Irene Alpine and Pearl Soliere as two witches, made this danced version of the exciting, folk-based play completely successful.

Those who attended last year's Dominion Drama Festival in Victoria will remember London Little Theatre's production of the play in which Joey Harris, Quality of Miss Franca and Mr. Adams' dancing, so far removed from their roles of the previous night, was exciting, convincing forcefully projected. Faces and bodies equally expressive, they build their interpretations on a superb, finely disciplined technique.

Jury Gotshalks was one of the highlights as a fanatic, wild-eyed preacher, and Victoria's Frank Rodwell showed distinct ability as Barbara's brother.

CHARMING, LISSOME
The ethereal "Swan Lake" had some striking scenic effects and slender Irene Alpine as the queen, Odette, a lissome and charming dancer. The corps de ballet is graceful, has collectively lovely arm movements and good discipline. The famous pas-de-quatre was well executed by Diane Childhouse, Sylvia Mason, Marilyn Rollo and Joan Stuart.

The mischievous humor of "Gala Performance" was a well-placed contrast to the modern tragedy. To be repeated tonight, this ballet, choreographed by Anthony Tudor to music of Prokofiev, is filled with delightful touches and surprises. It brought down the house last night and was the occasion for numerous curtain calls. Angela Leigh, Lois Smith and Irene Alpine danced well and showed a real gift for a bit of elegant clowning.

For the thousands who crowded the Times-sponsored Memorial Arena lecture last week to hear Sir Edmund Hillary and others of the successful Everest team speak of their adventures "Conquest of Everest" will be the perfect complement. For, whereas Sir Edmund and his doughty cohorts made light of the perils and hardships encountered, the film shows the momentous challenge of the great Himalayan peak and what team members actually endured in some of the most awesome colored photography in history.

Starting slowly, the picture first shows actual movies of former expeditions and summarizes the history of Everest, the vaunted peak that towers 29,022 feet towards Heaven, the conqueror of five previous expeditions. From here, to the accompaniment of a commentary written by British poet Louis MacNeice, the picture picks up Sir John Hunt, leader of the British team, forming the expedition at the request of the Royal Geographical Society and the Alpine Club. It shows the testing of man and the equipment he is to wear, the minute preparations necessary and the planning.

With the splendid color photography by team members Thomas Stobart and George W. Lowe, and to the music of Arthur Benjamin, the story of the actual climb starts in exotic Nepal. Shortly the scenes change to the unnerving sight of colossal snow and ice barriers as Hunt's team makes its base camp at the 18,000-foot mark in the western cwm, the glacial ditch by which access to Everest's peak is possible.

One admires the doggedness of the men, the 13 Britons and 35 rugged Sherpas, including Tensing Norkey who, with Sir Edmund, was to be the first to mount mighty Everest's peak, as they literally hacked each step out of the ice before another step was possible until victory was theirs.

The camera looking up made one dizzy with height. But it was the odd shots of the men showing what was below them, what one false step could mean, that made one suck one's breath.

Add "Conquest of Everest" to "A Queen Is Crowned" as the best documentary film of the year and the best documentary of its kind ever made.

HOME GARDEN

Whether you call them torch lilies, flame flowers, poker plants, red-hot poker, tritomas or by their new name of kniphofias, they are elegant plants which should be more freely used in gardens.

Although they cannot be classed as the hardiest of plants, they will stand fairly severe winters in this locality.

Growing from underground rhizomes this South African member of the lily family is a striking plant for the perennial border.

At one time the red torch-like spikes of bloom were seen only in autumn, but the newer races give flowers from July until frost.

Together with the change of name and extended flowering season have come variations in color of blossoms. The new hybrids give spikes of yellow and green, yellow and orange, yellow and scarlet, as well as the more familiar orange and scarlet combination.

While kniphofia can be raised easily from seed, the resultant variations in height and color being most interesting, it is better to purchase a few divisions when one has but a small garden.

Spring is the time for planting, also the time for lifting and dividing established plants. The fleshy roots object to being disturbed during fall, especially when growing in a heavy, cold soil.

Full sun and any good garden soil is suited to their requirements, providing there is plenty of humus present to hold moisture during their growing season, and water does not lie around the crowns over winter.

ILLNESS HITS TWO-HEAD BABE; OXYGEN TREATMENT ORDERED

PETERSBURG, Ind. (AP)—The weaker of the Hartley twin sons, born with two heads and four arms attached to a single torso, is being given oxygen treatments because he has shown no interest in eating for two days.

Dr. J. K. Elbert said Tuesday the weaker twin, Daniel Kay, was given oxygen for half an hour when his breathing first became difficult Monday. The mother also said she has given him oxygen several times.

The three-month-old twins have two stomachs, but Daniel Kay's digestive tract is not complete.

Farouk's Early B.C. Coin Brought Big Auction Price

An early British Columbia coin, valued at several thousand dollars, was among the rare items sold at the recent auction of former King Farouk's collection, coin collector R. M. Chiswell told the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon in the Empress Tuesday.

The transaction of money dates back to biblical times and its story is as broad as the fields of history and geography combined, Mr. Chiswell said.

The first Canadian coin was issued in 1870 by the French treasury and was good only in Canada.

In 1812, said Mr. Chiswell, $25,000,000—the first Canadian currency and called army money—was issued.

Astonishingly, all of it was redeemed, he said.

The first Canadian mint was established in 1908 and that year contracted to strike British sovereigns.

From 1912 to 1914, the mint issued $5 and $10 gold pieces. Mr. Chiswell showed the club a portion of his large coin and currency collection.

FINAL BULLETINS

Threat to Kill Queen Sent to MP

LONDON (Reuters)—A letter threatening to kill the Queen "if she sets foot in Gibraltar" has been received by a member of Parliament, it was disclosed tonight.

The letter was sent to Clement Davies, Liberal Party leader in the House of Commons.

It said: "If your Queen sets foot in Gibraltar we shall kill her." It bore a London postmark.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh plan to visit Gibraltar on the way back from their world tour.

This has led to protests from the Spanish government which have been rejected by the British Foreign Office. Spain has been agitating for the return of the "rock" bastion which Britain has possessed by treaty since 1713.

$439,431 Surplus for Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba is gearing for a surplus of $439,431 in the coming year on looked-for revenue of more than $57,000,000. Provincial Treasurer R. D. Turner said today in his budget speech.

Anticipated revenue is $57,322,450, nearly half of it coming in tax rental payments from the federal government. Current account expenditures for the year ending March 31, 1955, are estimated at $56,883,019.

Esquimalt High Cagers Beaten

VANCOUVER (CP)—Penticton defeated Esquimalt 37 to 28 in the first game played in the provincial high school boys' basketball tournament at the University of B.C. gym today. Ted Bowsfield was leading scorer for Penticton with 13 points while Joe Patterson topped the Esquimalt squad with 10.

U.S. Recession Held Impossible

SPOKANE (AP)—A depression or even a recession is no longer a possibility in the United States, Robert A. Whitney, president of the National Sales Executives Inc., said today.

Whitney, here for a speech, told reporters all the top company executives he has met in the last few months are optimistic about the nation's economy.

Spain, Turkey Battle to Tie

ROME (AP)—Spain and Turkey battled to a 2-2 tie today in a playoff soccer game meant to determine which will enter the world championship finals. The rough, see-saw match went into two overtime periods.

The Turkish team then was chosen by lot to go to the championship finals in Switzerland next June.

IKE RESERVES RIGHT TO HIT BACK—FAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today any president ought to be impeached or even hanged who did not act immediately if the country were attacked by an aggressor.

The president spoke out on the military situation after defending the position taken by State Secretary Dulles Tuesday that it would not be necessary for the chief executive to consult Congress in advance before acting to meet an attack.

Eisenhower said he was not backing away from the statement he made last week that the United States will not be carried into war without the approval of Congress.

But he said he could conceive of word coming to him while he was in the press conference that a great fleet of airplanes was coming from the south to destroy the United States.

Self-preservation requires quick reaction, he said. (See story Page 3).

'Educated Guess' That Russia Also Has It, Says AEC Spokesman

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UP)—It has now been said officially, plainly, openly—the United States has deliverable H-bombs and the means of hurling them at any target in the world.

Cole's statements were in reply to questions put to him on a television program, "Dateline Washington," filmed for broadcast over station WDSU-TV in New Orleans. The questions were asked by Reps. Hale Boggs (D-La.) and F. Edward Hebert (D-La.).

This country exploded the first "hydrogen device" at Eniwetok in November, 1952. Russia detonated an experimental H-bomb last Aug. 12. At the time of the Russian explosion Cole told newsmen nothing in the official U.S. and Soviet announcements could be construed as stating flatly that either country could put such weapons on a target.

Russian Progress Presumed

Tuesday night, however, he said the United States could do just that and Russia presumably could. He said President Eisenhower had told the United Nations this country has "hydrogen weapons."

His reference was to the speech of last December 8 in which Mr. Eisenhower said: "Atomic bombs today are more than 25 times as powerful as the weapons with which the atomic age dawned, while hydrogen bombs are in the ranges of millions of tons of TNT equivalent."

Informed sources said at the time that Mr. Eisenhower was referring to deliverable H-bombs. Cole has now confirmed this interpretation publicly. The President's statement, Cole said, "must necessarily mean a deliverable hydrogen bomb."

A "deliverable hydrogen bomb" that can be carried to any part of the world? Herbert asked.

"Yes," Cole said, "if we have bases close enough to the target."
